

CHIEF MCMANUS FAILS TO DISCIPLINE COPS WITH SUSTAINED COMPLAINTS

(Complaints that were upheld by the Civilian Review Authority)

This is a list of the last 26 complaints (as of July, 2005) that were upheld by the Minneapolis Civilian Review Authority, an agency that investigates complaints of police misconduct (excessive force, inappropriate language or conduct, etc.) by community members. Once that agency sustains the complaint, based on the preponderance of evidence, Chief McManus is responsible for issuing discipline. When he fails to do so, the message to police officers is that they can do anything they want, including violating the rights of community members, without repercussions. WE DESERVE BETTER!
