

Where Are They Now?

A Snapshot of Cornerstone Christian Academy Graduates

Aaron Allen- 2003 Graduate

Aaron was recently named as one of The Philadelphia Inquirer's 2007 Student Citizenship Award Winners. Currently a senior at Philadelphia Mennonite High School, he is involved in the student government and was class treasurer for all four years. Aaron has also volunteered at the Salvation Army, the Tape Ministry at Sharon Baptist Church, the Mennonite Central Committee, and at Spring Garden Elementary School.

Isaiah Stout- 2003 Graduate

Isaiah is graduating this year from West Catholic High School with a 4.0 grade point average. He will be attending Clark University in Atlanta, Georgia this fall. Isaiah is one of two Philadelphia student athletes traveling to Australia and the Ukraine this summer to play in an overseas basketball league.

Jeremy Boyd- 1999 Graduate

Jeremy loved math and science so much during his time at Cornerstone. Known as a student with a good sense of humor and silly antics, Jeremy is now a youth minister at his church, delivering his first message at age 14. He attended West Chester University where he continued to blossom as a minister and musician, writing music and recording songs in his make-shift "studio dorm room."

Kahlil Hannible- 2007 Graduate

Kahlil will be graduating this June. Kahlil has shown a lot of dedication to raising his grades this year. His involvement, along with two other 8th grade students, in the NASCAR Urban Youth Racing School in Philadelphia has allowed him to be on a team of young people that participate in competitive car races.

Teyanna Jett- 2003 Graduate

Teyanna will be back at Cornerstone this summer working with our summer camp. She is working with an organization called "Yes..And!", an arts and theater program that will be integrated into the summer curriculum. Teyanna is graduating from Franklin Learning Center this June and attending Virginia Tech in the fall.
