Quad-City Labyrinth Project loses lease

By The Quad City Times | Wednesday, June 14, 2006 Quad City Times

The Quad-City Labyrinth Project has lost its lease in the Star Cres Building in downtown Rock Island and has discontinued its monthly walks until further notice.

When new sites are located for the world peace and wellness walks, event information will be posted on the organization's Web site at www.qclabyrinth.org. In the meantime, the group is trying to find a new home for its headquarters. It hopes to find a sponsoring organization that can provide furnished office space, storage for labyrinth supplies and event space for labyrinth walks, workshops and classes.

The group is looking for input from members of the community about sites for the walks. People with ideas should e-mail the organization at qclabyrinth@aol.com.

Labyrinth Project seeks office space

By The Quad City Times | Saturday, June 10, 2006 Quad City Times

The Quad-City Labyrinth Project lost its lease in the Star Cres Building in Rock Island and has temporarily discontinued monthly labyrinth walks. When a new site is located, event information will be posted on Events Calendar on the Web site at www.qclabyrinth.org.

The organization is seeking a new home for its headquarters, preferably from a sponsoring organization that can provide furnished office space, storage for labyrinth supplies and event space for labyrinth walks, workshops and classes.

Individuals with information about possible locations are urged to contact the Quad-City Labyrinth Project at qclabyrinth@aol.com.
